Overview

When people call Attorney Amber Cohen, they're usually facing something overwhelming like a lawsuit, a divorce, a serious injury, a business dispute, or a moment that could permanently affect their family or future. They're not just looking for legal advice. They're looking for clarity, strategy, and someone who will stand firm when it matters most.

Amber represents individuals, families, and business owners who need decisive advocacy when the stakes are high. Her practice spans complex litigation, family law disputes, personal injury claims, employment conflicts, estate matters, and sensitive financial issues. No matter the case, her focus is the same: protect what matters most and position her clients for the strongest possible outcome.

Amber doesn't simply move files forward. She builds strategy. She prepares every case as if it could go the distance, often creating leverage long before stepping into a courtroom. Clients choose her because she is direct, responsive, and unafraid of difficult cases. Opposing counsel knows she is prepared. Clients know she is in their corner.

As the leader of a growing multi-practice firm, Amber believes legal representation should feel proactive, not reactive. That means honest assessments, clear communication, and solutions tailored to your goals, not a one-size-fits-all approach.

If you are navigating conflict, uncertainty, or major financial decisions, Amber works with you to create a plan, not just a case. When the outcome matters, preparation matters. And so does having the right advocate. Amber always says, she represents good people on bad days.

> "Attorney Cohen was amazing, she was thorough, tough and personable. She is extremely professional and was an amazing advocate for me in a high conflict case."
